CONTENTS OF VOLUME XVIII

XCIV. JANUARY, 1904.

A Study of the Radiations Emitted by a Righi Vibrator. H. R. WILLARD AND L. E. WOODMAN 1
On the Theory of the Electrolytic Rectifier. S. R. COOK 23
The Electrical Conductivity of Solutions in Methyl Alcohol in the Neighborhood of their Critical Point. I. C. A. KRAUS 40
A Convenient Method of Mounting Carbon Resistances. ARTHUR W. GRAY . 57
Note: George Gabriel Stokes 58
New Books: Miers, Mineralogy; Cheston, Dean and Timmerman, A Laboratory Manual of Physics 63

XCV. FEBRUARY, 1904

On the Velocity of Light in a Magnetic Field. JOHN MILLS 65
A Half-Shade Elliptical Polarizer and Compensator. D. B. BRACE 70
The Electrical Conductivity of Solutions in Methyl Alcohol in the Neighborhood of their Critical Point. II. C. A. KRAUS. 89
Some Experiments on the Polarization and Recovery of Cadmium Cells. S. J. BARNETT 105
American Physical Society: Minutes; Treasurer's Report; Does Radio-activity depend upon Concentration? E. Rutherford; Heating Effect of the Radium Emanation, E. Rutherford and H. T. Barnes; Phosphorescence of Organic Substances at Low Temperatures, E. L. Nichols and E. Merritt; Spectrophotometric Study of Fluorescence, E. L. Nichols and E. Merritt; Conductivity of Liquid Films, L. J. Briggs and J. W. McLane; Spectrum of the Electrodeless Discharge in Nitrogen, Percival Lewis; Spectrum of the Afterglow in Nitrogen at Low Pressures, Percival Lewis 116

XCVI. MARCH, 1904

The Effect of the Intensity upon the Velocity of Light. T. E. DOUBT . . . 129
On the Nature of Certain Radiations from the Sulphate of Quinine. FANNY C. GATES 135
A Study of the Molecular Lowering of the Freezing Point of Water Produced by Concentrated Solutions of Electrolytes. H. C. JONES AND F. H. GETMAN 146
A Method for the Determination of Coefficients of Mutual Induction. A. TROWBRIDGE 184
The Theory of the Compound Pendulum: Correction. R. R. TATNALL 187
American Physical Society: The Radio-activity of ordinary Metals, E. F. Burton 188
New Books: Edser, Light for Students 192

XCVII. APRIL, 1904.

The Metallic Reflection of Selenium. C. K. EDMUNDS 193
Resonance in Aerial Systems. A. H. TAYLOR 230

303504

On the Conductivity produced in Rarefied Gases by an Incandescent Kathode. ERNEST MERRITT AND O. M. STEWART 239
Fibers resembling fused Quartz in their Elastic Properties. K. E. GUTHE . . 256
The Continuous Method of Steam Calorimetry. J. H. HART. 263
On the Differential Telephone. W. DUANE AND C. T. LORY 275
On the Determination of Refractive Indices by means of Channeled Spectra. S. R. WILLIAMS 280
American Physical Society: Minutes; Presidential Address, Some Practical Aspects of the Relations between Physics and Mathematics, A. G. Webster; Conduction in Mercury Vapor, A. P. Wills; Preliminary Measurements of Short Wave-lengths, Theodore Lyman 295

XCVIII. MAY, 1904.

Potential Phenomena in Vacuum Tubes during the Production and Interruption of Electrical Discharge. S. N. TAYLOR 321
On the Use of Nickel in the Core of the Marconi Magnetic Detector. A. L. FOLEY 349
The Phosphorescence and Fluorescence of Organic Substances at Low Temperatures. E. L. NICHOLS AND ERNEST MERRITT. 355
Some further Observations on the Radiation produced in an Alternating Condenser Field. FERNANDO SANFORD. 366
American Philosophical Society: The Hall Effect in the Electric Arc, C. D. Child 370
New Books: Voigt, Thermodynamik; Alexander and Thomson, Applied Mechanics; Clerke, Astrophysical Problems; Andrews and Howland, Elements of Physics; Swinburn, Entropy; Ryan, Norris and Hoxie, Electrical Machinery; Boltzmann Festschrift 372

XCIX. JUNE, 1904.

The Reflecting Power of Selenium as determined by a Spectrophotometer. C. K. EDMUNDS 385
A Spectrophotometric Study of Fluorescent Solutions belonging to Lommel's First Class. E. L. NICHOLS AND ERNEST MERRITT 403
The Viscosity Coefficient of Air with an Inquiry into the Effect of the Röntgen Rays thereon. F. G. REYNOLDS 419
The Effect of Pressure on Magnetic Induction. FANNIE C. FRISBIE . . . 432
American Physical Society: Minutes; The Silver Voltameter: K. E. Guthe; Effect of Light on Absorption and Electrical Conductivity of Fluorescent Solutions: E. L. Nichols and E. Merritt; Arc Spectra of the Alkali Metals: F. A. Saunders; The Volumes of Solutions: W. F. Magie; Energy, Density, Tension, and Pressure in a Magnetic Field: S. J. Barnett; The Standard Cell: F. A. Wolff; Peculiar Behavior of Resistance Standards: F. A. Wolff; Apparatus for the Calibration of Resistance Boxes: F. A. Wolff. 444
